Mr. Rabbit then suggested that the little girl should get her mother "red underwear" but the little girl refused to give her mother such a gift. Mr. Rabbit then took the girl to an apple tree in which she agreed that would be a lovely present for her mom. Mr. Rabbit and little girl then proceeded to find another "present" for her mom. Mr. Rabbit suggested that the little girl get her mother something yellow. They both agreed that a banana would be the perfect fruit for her mom. Mr. Rabbit and the little girl filled a little brown basket with blue, yellow, green and red fruit Mr. Rabbit and the lovely present. Item Preview. remove-circle. A little girl discusses with Mr Rabbit the problem of what to give her mother as a birthday present. They decide to find her something in all her favourite colours and wander through the countryside assessing what can be given as a gift and what cannot - so a yellow banana is chosen rather than the yellow sun. After a long day of hunting the little girl finally has the perfect present. This is a beautifully illustrated, lyrical tale with plenty of repetition. The text imprints itself on children's minds once they have heard it read aloud and the dialogue offers the possibility of sharing
