² Lyonara (1959). This nothogeneric name is an illegitimate later homonym; Schombolaeliocattleya has priority.

³ Phal. Walnut Valley Treva is listed with “Phal. gersenii misapplied” as the seed parent. This was submitted as Phal. sumatrana var. gersenii. Christenson, The genus Phalaenopsis (2001) page 124-125 explains that Phal. gersenii (Teijsm. & Binn.) Rolfe represents a natural hybrid between Phal. violacea and Phal. sumatrana that is known only from the type collection. As plants illustrated in Awards Quarterly and Sweet, The Genus Phalaenopsis 1980: 117 do not appear to represent this hybrid, evidently the name has been misapplied to other hybrids. Pending identification of the parent plant it has been registered as the grex Gersenii misapplied.

*New or new to registration, intergeneric hybrid genus with abbreviation (in square brackets after the genus name) for the following combinations. The botanical authority follows each component genus.

Amesangis [Am.] Garay & H.R.Sweet in Withner, The Orchids, Scientific Studies: 490 (1974) = Aerangis Rchb.f. x Amesiella Schltr. ex Garay [Br-gp 9];

CORRECTIONS

Registrar's Notes in Orch. Rev. Suppl., May 2003 p.46, contains the heading "Cattleya citrina replaced by Epimedium citrinum", this last name should, of course, read Epidendrum citrinum.

Angulocaste Lemon Pie was registered with Lycaste cochleata 'Willow Pond' as a parent by the late Ben Berliner in 1993. Subsequently Ben Berliner's plant of Lycaste cochleata 'Willow Pond' has been re-determined by Henry Oakeley and found to be Lycaste bradeorum. Please amend the entry in SLOH 1991-1995 Addendum p.7, 8 (1996) accordingly.

Dendrobium Aussie's Pixie* and Den. Tweetie.

For these corrections, please see below under Registrar's Notes.

Doritaenopsis Bedford Baby Sunny was registered as Dtps. Baby Sunny in error. Please correct the entry that appears in Orch. Rev. Suppl. 111(1251): 37 (May 2003).

Doritaenopsis Orchidom Lavender was registered with an incorrect parentage in Orch. Rev. Suppl. 110(1245): 38 (May 2002). Please correct this entry to read Dtps. King Shiang's Rose x Phal. Canyon Lavender.

Doritaenopsis Orchidom Whistling Swan was registered as a Phalaenopsis with Phalaenopsis Whistling Swan as the seed parent. This should have been Doritaenopsis Whistling Swan. Please amend the entry in SLOH Addendum 1999-2001 p. 614.

Lycaste schoenbrunnensis Rolfe in Orchid Review 1: 51 (1893) has been treated as the grex (Lyc. skinneri x Lyc. schilleriana) in the register. It first flowered in the collection of the Emperor of Austria at the Imperial Gardens at Schönbrunn near Vienna and a flower was sent to Rolfe by F. Sander & Co. of St. Albans. Based on the illustration appearing in Wiener Illustrierte Gartenzeitung t. 3 (1893), Henry Oakeley has determined it to be a synonym of Lyc. skinneri with no evidence of it being a hybrid, as the long, thin sepals so characteristic of Lyc. schilleriana hybrids are lacking. It was awarded an AM/ RHS in 1894.

Paphiopedilum* Kee Chin Lim registered in July 2001 as Paph. rothschildianum x Paph. stonei, is now known to have been made with Paph. platyphyllum. Unfortunately, this makes the later registration of Paph. Taieri pride a synonym of Paph. Kee Chin Lim. Please amend SLOH 1999-2002 Addendum p. 460, 504.

Rhynchovanda* Alexander Choo Weiwen was registered in 1993 as a Rhynchostylis in error. Please amend the entry in SLOH 1991-1995 Addendum p. 998.

REGISTRAR'S NOTES

Angraecum philippinense* Ames replaced by Amesiella philippinensis (Ames) Garay

Recognition of the genus Amesiella Garay for registration requires the following changes to registered grexes:

Angrangis Snow Nymph (1972) transferred to Amesangis

Ceratograecum Rosebud (1995) transferred to Ceratosiella.

Tubaecum Snow Gem (1979) transferred to Tuberella

The new nothogenera are published above.

Barkeria halbingeri* - a synonym of *Bark. melanocaulon

Recent treatments of Barkeria no longer uphold Bark. halbingeri Thien as distinct from Bark. melanocaulon A.Rich. & Galeotti. This has the result that the grex Bark. Sarina (1996) becomes a synonym of Bark. Toodles (1994). See Withner, The Cattleyas and relatives 5: 22-23 (1998); Die Orchidee 53(5): 590 (2002).

Coelogyne* - synonyms and species

The following adjustments have been made to bring the registration nomenclature into line with Clayton, D. The genus Coelogyne: a synopsis (2002).

Coel. dayana Rchb.f. has been replaced by Coel. pulverula Teijsm. & Binn.

Coel. massangeana Rchb.f. has been replaced by Coel. tomentosa Lindl.

Coel. speciosa var. major C.F.Sander, F.K.Sander & L.L.Sander and var. incarnata hort. comb. ined. have both been replaced with Coel. speciosa subsp. incarnata Gravendeel, which is sometimes known by the misapplied name Coel. salmonicolor hort.

Cynoches* - changes to accepted species.

In response to advice from George Carr, Cyc. aureum Lindl. is now accepted as distinct from Cyc. egertonianum Bateman. This results in a change of registered parentage to Cyc. Hawaiian Lei (1961). Cyc. thurstoniorum Dodson is accepted as a synonym of Cyc. peruviana Rolfe, resulting in a change of registered parentage of Cyc. Beny Harder (2000).

The name Cynorkis x kewensis and the grex Cynorkis Kewensis

The award of a Botanical Certificate by the RHS Orchid Committee to Cynorkis lowiana 'Madagascar' as reported in Orchid Review 111(1250): 79 (March 2003) raised interesting questions of typography and nomenclature concerning its sole registered hybrid, Cynorkis xkewensis. Although not appearing in Index Kewensis * it was validly described by Rolfe in Orchid Review 11(127): 219 (1903). The only herbarium specimens at Kew date from 1918 and 1923, thus neither can be the holotype.

However, the 1918 specimen is here designated as the neotype. In Gardeners Chronicle ser. 3, 43: 184-185 (1908) the name of this hybrid appears without detailed description as Cynorkis x Kewensis. It should be noted that on these two pages all the latin binomials appear in standard Roman, not italic, type and hence this typography can not be taken as evidence of how this name was viewed. In Du Puy et al., (1999) Orchids of Madagascar a comprehensive series of references to the literature for this hybrid is provided, all with a consistent typography in Roman indicating a grex name. Since the name has been published as a binomial at species rank, a question may be asked as to what relationship exists between the two names?

A botanical binomial that is applied to a hybrid includes all the progeny relating to crosses between the two parents, regardless of whether these are F1 crosses, subsequent generations or back-crosses (ICBN Art. H.4.1). Thus the latin binomial for a hybrid has a broader application than the grex name which currently is applicable only to the progeny of a single cross, be it a filial generation or a back-cross. Therefore plants belonging to the F1 generation of Cynorkis lowiana × purpurata may be referred to as Cynorkis × kewensis Kewensis grex. Should individuals from this grex be back-crossed to either parent they become members of another grex but are still within the limits of the latin binomial and could be labelled Cynorkis × kewensis [Another] grex.

The above has a bearing on the treatment of natural hybrids and greges with apparently the same parentage - they are not co-extensive taxa, but rather the natural hybrid binomial should be regarded as encompassing the artificial grex.

The Registrar would like to thank Phillip Cribb of Kew for granting access to the herbarium and library at RBG Kew.

*There appears to be a general omission from Index Kewensis, and consequently IPNI, of many species described in the early issues of The Orchid Review.

Cypripedium

Plants in cultivation under the name Cyp. manschuricum 'Alba' have been used in breeding programs. However, the name Cyp. manschuricum Stapf is a synonym of Cyp. × ventricosum Sw., the natural hybrid between Cyp. calceolus and Cyp. macranthos. Cribb (The genus Cypripedium 1999: 272-273) reports that natural hybrids between these two species are common in far eastern Russia and that plants apparently representing back-crosses to either parent have been observed. These include plants with white flowers similar to Cyp. manschuricum var. virescens Stapf. In order to provide a valid name for cultivated plants the following combination is proposed. Cyp. ventricosum* nothovar. virescens (Stapf) J.M.H.Shaw comb. nov. Basionym: Cyp. manschuricum Stapf var. virescens Stapf in Bot. Mag. 152: t.9117 (1927), syn. Cyp. manchuricum 'Alba'. Due to the interest in breeding Cypripedium and the variability of some species, there has been a reassessment of the taxa treated as synonyms. In order to allow greater precision and flexibility of naming several horticulturally important taxa below the rank of species will be accepted as grex parents in Cyp. macranthos. Several of these appear in the grex list above.

Dockrillia convoluta transferred to Dendrobium

The Papuan Dockrillia convoluta needs to be transferred to Dendrobium to provide a valid name for this taxon in registration. A replacement name has been provided by André Schuitman and Ed deVogel on their CD-ROM "Orchids of New Guinea vol. 2: Dendrobium and Allied Genera", but this does not constitute valid publication at present. Therefore, for the sake of consistency, this proposed name is taken up and published here: Dendrobium contextum* Schuitman & De Vogel ex J.M.H.Shaw comb. & nom. nov., replaced name: Dockrillia convoluta M.A.Clem. & D.L.Jones in Lasianthera 1(1): 11 (1996).

Unfortunately, confusion arose during the initial registration of a grex with Dockrillia convoluta as a parent, and it was included in the register by error as Den. convolutum Rolfe, a species of section Latouria. The Registrar would like to thank Michael Harrison of the ANOS for pointing out this mistake.

Please amend the parentage entry in Orch. Rev. Suppl. 111(1250): 20 (March 2003), for Den. Aussie's Pixie to read Den. aberrans x Den. contextum. Please also note that as a consequence, Den. Aussie's Pixie and its progeny Den. Sexy Lady are not to be placed in Dockrillium.

Also the parentage for Den. [Doc.] Tweetie should be changed to read Den. [Doc.] fuliginosum [fuliginosa] x Den. [Doc.] contextum [convoluta].

Epidendrum - adjustments to accepted species.

The following changes have been made to correct nomenclature used in registration.

Epi. pabstii A.D.Hawkes is treated as a synonym of Epi. bracteatum Barb.Rod, resulting in changes to the registered parentage of the following greges: Epbns. Rococo (1980); Bepi. Surprise (1974); Epi. Bud Spence (1984).

Epi. chacaoense Rchb.f. replaces Epi. ionophlebium Rchb.f., resulting in changes to the registered parentage of Epi. Martina (1998); Epi. Midnight (1962); Epc. Pioneer (1964); Epi. Topsy Turvy (1966).

Epi. xiphères Rchb.f. is replaced by Epi. nematocaulon (A.Rich.) Acuna, resulting in changes to the parentage of Epi. Puss-cat (1970); Epi. Sarah Jesup (1961) and Bepi. Tom Ward (1981).

The name Epi. randii Barb.Rod. is replaced by Epi. randianum Barb.Rod., resulting in changes to Epc. High Time (1985); Epi. Rioclarensis (1994); Epc. Sundance (1978); Epc. Stéphanie Giustino Cortez (1995).

Epicattleya Zebra Rose (1992) becomes a synonym of Epicattleya Barry Bell (1989).

Holcoglossum* [Holc.] Schltr.

The nomenclature used for registration has been updated to coincide with that proposed by Christenson in Notes RBG Edinburgh 44(2): 249-256 (1987) and AOS Bulletin 1346-1349 (Dec. 1995). This has resulted in the transfer of Vanda kimballiana Rchb.f. to Holcoglossum kimballianum (Rchb.f.) Garay. The name Neofinetia quasipinifolia (Schltr.) hort. ined. has been replaced by Holcoglossum quasipinifolium Schltr. As a result the following grexes have been placed under new nothogenera:

Holcanthera [Hol.] = Holcoglossum x Renanthera
Renanetia Pinwheel Parfait (1991).

Holcosia [Hls.] = Holcoglossum x Luisia
Luinetia.Ace (1987); Luisanda Little Beauty (2003).

Vandoglossum [Vg.] = Holcoglossum x Vanda
Vanda Ann Kirsch (1947); Any Frederique Restrepo (1944); Ballet Girl (1946); Little Beauty (2003); Star Elite (1988); Trikimball (1948); Vandofinetia Ruffles (1978).

Phragmipedium ecuadorensis* is a synonym of Phrag. pearcei.

Following the treatment of Phragmipedium in Jorgensen, P. M. & León-Yáñez, S. (1999) Catalogue of the Vascular Plants of Ecuador p.436, and the recent article in Orchids (AOS) 210-213 (March 2003) by Christenson, the database has been amended to reduce Phrag. ecuadorensis Garay to synonymy under Phrag. pearcei (Rchb.f.) Rauh & Senghas. Unfortunately this results in several grex synonyms:

Phrag. Betheva, 1985 (syn. Phrag. Toyoki Kawatsura, 1997)
Phrag. Cape Bonanza, 1999 (syn. Phrag. Katahdin Sunset, 2000)
Phrag. Cape Gold Nugget, 1999 (syn. Phrag. Bird's Delight, 2001)
Phrag. Ecu-a-Bess, 1991 (syn. Phrag. Olaf Gruss, 1996)
Phrag. Fire Star, 1988 (syn. Phrag. Simon Marcotte, 1993)
Phrag. Fireworks, 1987 (syn. Phrag. Shizuko Kawatsura, 1999)
Phrag. La Moye, 31 Jan. 1995 (syn. Phrag. Patti MacHale, 7 Nov. 1995)

As Christenson points out, some of the grex parents registered under the name Phrag. ecuadorensis may in fact represent Phrag richteri or another similar natural hybrid. Anyone who can confirm a re-identification for the parent of a registered grex listed above is asked to contact the Registrar so that the Register may be corrected. This may well result in the re-instatement of some of the above synonyms.

Pleione* - natural hybrids and grexes

As discussed above under Cynorkis, a reconsideration of the relationship between natural hybrids and grexes with apparently the same parentage, has led to the conclusion that they are not co-extensive taxa, but rather the natural hybrid binomial should be regarded as encompassing the artificial grex. For example, the newly registered grex Pln. Vicky is bred from Pln. bulbocodioides x Pln. x barbarae. Since Pln. x barbarae is thought to be the natural hybrid between Pln. bulbocodioides and Pln. grandiflora the resulting grex is no longer of species equivalent rank (as it involves at least one back-cross), but forms a cultivar-group within the limits of the name Pln. x barbarae. Therefore the note appearing in Orch. Rev. Suppl. 110(1247): 86 (Sept. 2002) should be disregarded. Instead the grexes listed constitute cultivar-groups within the hybrid circumscribed by the binomial.

Stenoglottis macloughlinii* and Sngl. molweniensis G.McDonald ined.

A recent revision of the genus by Joyce Stewart concluded that four species were recognisable in southern Africa. Her revision in Kew Magazine 6(1): 9-22 (Feb. 1989) also includes a key, excellent illustrations and hints at the existence of a natural hybrid, Sngl. woodii x Sngl. longifolia. Linder & Kurzweil in their book Orchids of South Africa (1999) p. 146-149 also describe the four species of Stenoglottis usually recognised from South Africa, and comment that, "There is substantial variation in some species, leading to suggestions that further subdivisions may be possible." Cynorchis macloughlinii L. Bolus is listed as a synonym of Sngl. woodii Schltr by Linder & Kurzweil. It was first reduced to synonymy by Joyce Stewart who commented that the flowers were a much darker, rosy crimson with longer spurs than Sngl. woodii. This taxon has since been transferred to Sngl. and raised to specific rank in South-African Orchid Journal 26(4): 115-119 (1996) as Sngl. macloughlinii (L.Bolus) G.McDonald; it has now been accepted for registration. Further details of this species appear in I. & E. la Croix, (1997) African Orchids in the wild and in cultivation, p. 329.

Additional work with karyotypic and phylogenetic data on the entire genus has also lead to the recognition of a further species provisionally called Stenoglottis molweniensis G.McDonald ined. This species, known from KwaZulu-Natal, has also been accepted for registration under its manuscript name (although this registration has yet to be received). It is informally described in South-African Orchid Journal 26(4): 115-119 (1996).

Tuberolabium kotoense* distinguished from *Tblm. quisumbingii

As pointed out by Christenson in Orchids (AOS) 68(12): 1220 (Dec. 1999), Tuberolabium kotoense Yamam. is endemic to Taiwan and is distinct from the Philippine species Tblm. quisumbingii (L.O.Williams) Christenson, with which it has been confused. As a result it becomes necessary to change the registered parentage of the grex Tuberella [formerly Tubaecum] Snow Gem (1979).
