Gertrude Jekyll (/ˈdʒɛːkəl/ JEE-kÉ™l; 29 November 1843 – 8 December 1932) was a British horticulturist, garden designer, craftswoman, photographer, writer and artist. She created over 400 gardens in the United Kingdom, Europe and the United States, and wrote over 1,000 articles for magazines such as Country Life and William Robinson's The Garden. Jekyll has been described as "a premier influence in garden design" by British and American gardening enthusiasts. The gardens have lately been much restored. Jekyll originally employed 14 gardeners to handle her 15 acres. Munstead Wood is in private ownership but opens for the National Garden Scheme and also for the Lutyens Trust.
